

CHAPTER 4

CHAPTER QUIZ

Student Success for Health Professionals, Simplified, Third Edition

Laurie McCorry and Jeff Mason

Interacting with Others as a Healthcare Professional

Multiple Choice

- On the first day of class, instructors often read and discuss the class handouts. What is one advantage of this activity?
  - The instructor can make sure everyone is present.
  - You can ask questions and clarify the instructor's expectations.
  - The instructor can identify students who need tutoring.
  - You can highlight possible test questions.
- If you sit at the front of the classroom, what impression does this communicate to the instructor?
  - That you are willing and eager to learn
  - That you have poor hearing or eyesight
  - That you want to be the center of attention
  - That you are afraid to ask questions
- Meeting individually with your instructor provides the opportunity to do all of the following except:
  - ask questions about lecture content.
  - learn about the instructor's expectations.
  - discuss important issues related to the course.
  - find out specifically what's going to be on the next test.
- What is the best time to meet with your instructor to ask questions or discuss the material?
  - During class
  - Immediately after class
  - During the instructor's office hours
  - Whenever you have free time
- For a network to be successful, all group members must:
  - be equally intelligent.
  - share their quiz answers.
  - contribute and consume information.
  - take turns hosting the group meetings.
- Participating in organized groups on campus can facilitate all of the following except:
  - allowing you to remain passive about your social life.
  - providing more variety in your social life.
  - exposing you to new skills and interests.
  - relieving stress and provide outlets for enjoyment.
- When working with patients, you may come across cases in which a male family member speaks for a female patient. What is this an example of?
  - Gender roles
  - Race
  - Religion
  - Patriarchy

Student Success for Health Professionals, Simplified, Third Edition

Laurie McCorry and Jeff Mason

Fill in the Blank

8. By observing the instructor on the first day of class, you can pick up on the instructor's personality, _____, and perception of students.
9. A support system of peers is called a _____.
10. A network is voluntary, _____, and respectful.
11. If you have a question about your curriculum requirements, your school's _____ can be great resources.
12. Ethnicity, age, gender, and socioeconomic status are all elements of _____.
13. _____ refers to the great variety of human characteristics.
14. The term _____ is typically based on a person's physical characteristics.
15. _____ is the concept of identifying with the traditions and values of a particular group.

Short Answer

16. Name two advantages of understanding the instructor's teaching style.
17. Describe one benefit of being able to see demonstrations and hear the instructor clearly.
18. List three advantages of taking notes during class.
19. Explain why you should introduce yourself to the instructor on the first day of class.
20. If you cannot speak to the instructor immediately after class, what is another appropriate time to introduce yourself to the instructor?
21. Describe one way to keep your network members' personal information safe.
22. Explain two benefits of networking with your peers.
23. List two places you are likely to find information about on-campus groups and activities.